

Project Management Internship near San Francisco

Company is passionate about contributing to a world powered by clean, risk free, sustainable energy from the sun. They aim to accelerate the adoption of new technologies and products that contribute to and enable the transition towards a renewable future.

Responsibilities:

Specialties Include:

Solar Pile Driving Services, Engineering & Project Management for Solar Projects, Solar Installation and Maintenance, Solar Consultancy Services, Solar Tracker installation.

A typical day at work would start with a good cup of tea and checking incoming emails, responding or calling clients.

Intern would be Working closely with the Operations and Project Manager:

- creating installations manuals to improve workflow on the jobsites
- checking project process and compare with milestones
- Controlling, Improving, planning processes for business development and internal project handovers.
- Analyze, develop and apply strategies to grow the business and develop new markets by adding services like O&M, Electrical or adding products like Storage technology etc.
- Apply developed strategies, measure efficiency

Duration: 12 Months

Stipend: To be discussed

Location: Near San Francisco

Start Date: Rolling

